SECTION 3:
PACE WITHOUT RUSHING.

Use a practice log to find where time is lost. Dense shared stems make real pacing uneven.

75 questions / 150 minutes

The page uses 30 questions per hour as a rough checkpoint — not a rigid deadline for every question.

Practice set / date _____

Checkpoints I will use _____

Choose your own check-in points before the set. Fill in actual progress; do not sacrifice a clear solution just to meet a row.

Check-in / target	Time elapsed	Questions attempted	Flagged items / next move

After the set

Where was time lost?

Knowledge / interpretation / arithmetic / decision-making.

One pacing change for my next practice set

Work steadily. Mark and move on when a question consumes time without a clear path; return if time permits. Attempt answers rather than leaving blanks — ACER states that no marks are deducted for wrong MCQ answers.
